

where the two input bits go what the reported output contains

